PERSONAL.

During the last two weeks there have been published some complimentary notices and comment in several of the Arizona papers concerning the undersigned being chosen by the democrats of Cochise county to go to Denver as one of the six delegates from Arizona to the national democratic convention. I appreciate fully the desire of some of my friends to see me thus honored, but I announce now that I am not an aspirant for the position and will not allow the consideration of my name for it.

Cochise county will be entitled to name one of the delegates to the Denver convention and it is my desire to see it given to a man who has a call upon the honor because of loyalty and activity in the past in upholding the democratic party and its candidates in this county. I believe the best way to maintain party strength is by rewarding those who have been prominent in the fight for party supremacy and against those who represent the political enemy, when such honors are to be conferred as the one of being selected as a delegate to Denver.

So far as the result in the democratic national convention this year it will matter little who goes from Cochise county or Arizona. The democrats of the country have already decided on W. J. Bryan as their leader. It will be for the democrats of Cochise county to say who shall be named, of their number, to go to the Denver convention and I hope the honor will be bestowed upon some deserving man.

I especially desire here to thank my democratic editorial brothers throughout Arizona for the kind words spoken in connection with my supposed candidacy for delegate. I am glad to have been able in the past to render the democratic party such service as to attract the attention and commendation of the democratic press of Arizona.

GEO. H. KELLY.

Douglas, Arizona, March 31, 1908.

THANK YOU, BROTHERS.

The following items from the two democratic papers in Graham county where Mr. Kelly resided and had something to do with politics for thirteen years, are highly appreciated:

(Arizona Bulletin)

Cochise county will go to the democratic convention this trip with forty-seven delegates, a very notable showing of which she is proud. And what could be more natural than that she also have one of the delegates to the national convention, and who other to be that delegate than George H. Kelly.

(Graham Guardian)

We note that George H. Kelly of Douglas is mentioned as a delegate from Cochise county, to constitute one of the six delegates from Arizona to the national democratic convention at Denver in July next, and we hope he will be selected. While the Guardian and George have had their little differences over local matters in the past, we must say that we admire the way he has always put in his best efforts for the national and territorial democracy. He is now at the head of a strong syndicate of democratic papers capable of doing much good for the party, and we certainly think George is well entitled to the compliment. Graham county and the Guardian cheerfully second his nomination.

THE KELLY NEWSPAPER SYNDICATE.

While the Oasis believes that Senator Foraker has earned the Arizona delegation to the national republican convention, it believes it is none of the business of the Kelly syndicate of democratic newspapers to butt into the question at all. If the Kellys will leave republicans to settle their own affairs they would prove more satisfactory. But they seem to have become so accustomed to drawing republicans around by the nose in the statehood campaign, and in the fight against a bullion tax, that they cannot refrain from "chipping in." No gales Oasis.

We hardly know whether to construe the above from the Oasis as a compliment or a criticism and will leave our readers to judge for themselves as to its proper classification. The Kelly democratic papers have maintained that it would be an exhibition of base ingratitude on the part of Arizona if the political party to which Senator Foraker belongs should so far forget his great fight for the preservation of the territory from the fate of joint-statehood as to instruct delegates to Chicago for another. The Kelly papers are for the preservation of the honor of Arizona and would not be glad to see even the republicans put the territory in such disgrace as would result from a failure to remember Senator Foraker for what he has done for our people. The republican convention should certainly not omit the duty of giving formal thanks to Senator Foraker for his statehood fight in the interest of justice for our people. The democratic convention should not fail to perform this same duty.

The Kelly newspaper syndicate has no desire to meddle in republican politics, except to warn that party against action which would bring disgrace on the territory or some county of it. For instance, when the republican committee met in this county recently and ignored the orders of the territorial committee in the matter of choosing delegates from this county to the Tucson convention, we pointed to the outlaw action as one which would probably deprive the republicans of this county from representation in their territorial convention. Our advice has been accepted and now primaries are being held to do over again the work of the county committee. We hope the Oasis will not point to this instance as another where the Kelly papers have been pulling the republicans around by the nose. It is the duty of the Kelly papers and all other papers to print the news and give the best advice to those who are connected with the news stories.

The Oasis knows that the Kelly democratic papers never fought against the bullion tax law in Arizona; on the other hand they advised its passage as the only basis of a fair and equitable assessment of the mining property.

ON THE RUN.

It is a republican and not a democrat who says that there never was a time when good, solid republican support was more necessary to republican existence. It is a republican who says that democrats all over the country are gathering new courage and are going to fight a hard battle. It is a republican who says that the balance of power between the republican and democratic parties is held by a vast body of independent voters whose votes will go to the party they believe to be more nearly right, to the party that appeals to them as being sincere, to the party in which a

Gentlemen—Since signing a contract with you, some ten weeks ago, for space in your daily journal, we wish to state that in our twenty years experience in the Realty and Land business, we have never received greater returns or more liberal treatment from any newspaper extant.

Your wide circulation throughout Arizona and adjacent mining districts renders it a most valuable factor for the upbuilding of any line of business.

In conclusion we wish to reiterate the old saying: "It pays to advertise," and especially in "The Bisbee Daily Review."

Very Truly Yours,
McCORD & ORPIN.

good American citizen may have confidence. It is a republican who adds: "The present leaders of the republican party are so closely allied with the railroad interests and have shown so clearly the subservience of the present political machine to that domination, that they have lost the confidence of the people." An old nursery rhyme exclaims: "Fire on the mountains. Run, boys, run!" The republican "boys" are on the run. What kind of fire on the mountain has stamped them, asks the Los Angeles Herald. Not wildfire, but the first success of a cause that will "burn like wildfire," set men's hearts on fire and stimulate them. After the Master had talked to the disciples at Emmaus one remarked to the others: "Did not our hearts burn within us?" Men's hearts will burn within them when they realize that this year the democracy stands for Americanism, that the land of the free and the home of the brave will renew the vows of its youth, and in this renewal will find itself endowed with that perpetual youth which distinguishes it from all other nations. Back to first principles! They are verily the water of life for the American nation. Life and a living, liberty and freedom from grinding poverty, the pursuit of happiness, which will become a reality and not a mockery in the coming days of a square meal for every home and a square deal for every boy and girl. These are the aims and the objects of enlightened democratic leaders and their followers, and it is because the democratic party embodies these objects in its leaders and expresses them in its platforms and pledges that it will secure the support of the vast body of independent voters to whom the republican speaker referred, and will win.
